

CLASSICAL CIVILISATION

Course: OCR Classical Civilisation A-Level

INTRODUCTION

We study 3 components:

1) The World of the Hero (40% of A-level)

Analysis and comparison of Homer's Odyssey and Virgil's Aeneid. What did it mean to be a hero in the ancient world?

2) Love and Relationships (30% of A-level)

Analysis and comparison of the ideas presented on love, sex, desire and marriage in the philosophical works of Plato and Seneca, as well as the literature of Ovid and Sappho. What were real and idealised love and relationships like in the ancient world?

3) Invention of the Barbarian (30% of A-level)

Analysis of the portrayal of Greeks, Persians and other non-Greeks in art and literature. Euripides' Medea and Aeschylus' Persians are the set texts for this module. How did the Greeks perceive and represent themselves and others?

PREPARATION TASKS

(Required)

Below you will find a wide variety of resources.

Read one text from the reading list for each component (one for World of the Hero, one for Love & Relationships and one for Invention of the Barbarian).

For each text, complete the following tasks:

- Create a summary mind-map of the key points and ideas raised.
- Write a short review of the resource. What did you find most interesting / surprising / useful? Did you enjoy it and why (not)? What questions did it raise for you and what would you want to research next?
- Create a short glossary of key terms, figures, places and events.

Bonus task (optional): Write an essay about one of your chosen texts! Choose a title from the suggested essay titles listed at the end.
